Participants will enjoy a guided tour of the exhibition, Water: H<sub>2</sub>O=Life, followed by a group music workshop led by Music For Everyone's experienced staff.

This special activity is an initiative of the National Museum aimed at engaging people with disabilities more directly with the Museum's collection, through music, a universal language

Guided Tour

Experience water like never before in this thought-provoking, entertaining and inspiring exhibition. Learn how water shapes our planet and nearly every aspect of our lives. Be inspired by water stories from around the world and discover what you can do to help preserve water now and for generations to come.

Music workshop

The group music workshop will explore themes and ideas from Water: H<sub>2</sub>O=Life in a non-confronting and inclusive way, using some of Music for Everyone's great musical instruments. No previous musical experience is needed.

If you already attend Music For Everyone's regular weekly music groups during school terms, then this will be a great holiday activity for you, combining your music activities with a special visit to a wonderful exhibition at the National Museum.

If you haven't attended a music group at Music For Everyone before, you are also most welcome to participate in this special activity. No previous musical experience is necessary to participate in this activity. It's a great opportunity to try out what happens in a Music For Everyone music group, as well as enjoying the exhibition

Booking

If you wish to take part in this free holiday activity, you need to fill in the special workshop booking form (attached), one for each participant, and return it to Music For Everyone. Places are limited, so it is essential that individual bookings are made as soon as possible. Participants may be accompanied by their carer if needed. You will receive a booking confirmation.
