

GUIDED EXHIBITION TOUR AND MUSIC WORKSHOP - CHILDREN

Time: 10.00am-11.30am (9.45am arrival for 10am start)
Date: Thursday 21 January 2010
Cost: Free of charge
Venue: National Museum of Australia: Lawson Crescent, Acton Peninsula, Acton
Who: Children with disabilities & their families

The National Museum of Australia, in collaboration with Music For Everyone, invites children with disabilities and their families to visit the Museum for a unique holiday activity, free of charge.

Participants will enjoy a guided tour of the exhibition, Water: H₂O=Life, followed by a group music workshop led by Music For Everyone's experienced staff.

This special activity is an initiative of the National Museum aimed at engaging people with disabilities more directly with the Museum's collection, through music, a universal language.

Guided Tour

Experience water like never before in this thought-provoking, entertaining and inspiring exhibition. Learn how water shapes our planet and nearly every aspect of our lives. Be inspired by water stories from around the world and discover what you and your family can do to help preserve water now and for generations to come.

Music workshop

The group music workshop will explore fun themes and ideas from Water: H₂O=Life in a non-confronting and inclusive way, using some of Music for Everyone's great musical instruments. No previous musical experience is needed.

Booking

If you wish to take part in this free holiday activity, please fill in the workshop booking form (attached), one for each participant, and return it to Music For Everyone. All participants must be accompanied by a parent or carer. Siblings without disabilities may attend also – please record numbers attending from your family and their age on the one booking form. Places are limited, so it is essential that individual bookings are made as soon as possible. You will receive a booking confirmation.
